THE EYE:

BY OBADIAH OPTIC.

——— JUVAT IMMEMORATA FERENTEM,
INGENUIS OCCULISQUE LEGI MANIBUSQUE TENERI.

HOR.

VOLUME I.

PHILADELPHIA:

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY JOHN W. SCOTT,
NO. 147 CHESNUT STREET.

—1808.—

AP2
.A2E9

7575
'02

GENERAL INDEX.

ORIGINAL PAPERS.

EDITOR'S ESSAYS.

ADDRESS to the public - - - - page 1
Account of the Optic family - - - - - 13
Notice of correspondents - - - - - - 25
Odd notions of some of the Optic family - - - ibid.
Interview with sister Sarah - - - - - 37
Considerations of the causes of individual and national happiness - - - - - - - - 49
Industry the source of individual and national happiness 61
Conversation with uncle Zebedee on the exposition of his opinions - - - - - - - - 73
Female industry—The good wife - - - - 85
Domestic manufactures - - - - - - 97
History of Industry and Art - - - - - 109
Various opinions respecting the editor - - - 121
Letters to the editor from Tom Frolic, Dolly Word-about, Maria Gay, and Old Seventy-six - - - 133
Spring—Observation on Thomson's Seasons - - 145
Sunday walks—The force of example - - - 157
Same subject continued - - - - - - 169
Commerce the cause of wars, &c. - - - - 181
Education—Plan for choosing school masters - - 193
On Quackery - - - - - - - - 205
Lotteries considered in a moral and religious point of view 217
Lotteries productive of human misery - - - 229
Titles of nobility—their origin and impious application 241
Same subject continued - - - - - - 253
Titles, conversation with uncle Zebedee on the subject of 265
Letter to the editor on the evil tendency of the too common use of oaths - - - - - - - 277
Subject of the preceding number discussed - - 289
Objections relative to the preceding discussion answered 301

ORIGINAL PAPERS.

THE AMERICAN IDLER.

No. I. Introductory essay - - - - - page 3
II. Egotism, plagiarism, &c. - - - - - 15
III. The capacities, genius, &c. of women - - 27
IV. Old age - - - - - - - - - 39
V. Letter from Jack Lightlees - - - - - 51
VI. The weakness of men; or, the difficulty of being always virtuous—Anecdote of Pittacus—Story of Humanus - - - - - - - - 63

MUSHROOM.

No. I. Note from Caustic—Resolution to commence author 31
II. The author's account of himself - - - 43
III. Caustic's admonitions—The author's consideration of them - - - - - - - - 55
IV. Epistle from Ephraim—Succinct history of Deborah 68
V. Shopping adventure - - - - - - 76

THE SPECTACLES.

No. I. On idleness, inattention, &c. - - - - 6
II. No. I. exemplified in the history of a student at law - - - - - - - - - 18
III. The want of success in correcting vice is as much owing to the improper means used by writers, as to the prejudices of the vicious - - 29
IV. Pernicious effects of novel reading - - 41
V. History of Ned the politician - - - 53
VI. Solitude inconsistent with the end for which man was formed - - - - - - - 67
VII. Common report an erroneous criterion to judge of talents - - - - - - - - 75
VIII. Lotteries, common and public nuisances - 87
IX. On slander - - - - - - - - 123
X. Fashion, the support of vices - - - - 136
XI. Trifles preferred to men of merit—Mary's complaint of the Spectacles—letter of Dick Dasher invoking censure on the unfair practices of the ladies at cards - - - - - - - 159

ORIGINAL PAPERS.

XII. Character of a babbler - - - page 184
XIII. On the choice of proper companions—History of Aurelius - - - - - - - 208
XIV. Caroline's complaint—Maxims to be observed by young ladies - - - - - - 256
XV. Petition of Sunday - - - - - 291
XVI. Imprudence of females—Description of a ladies' man - - - - - - - - 303

THE TORTOISE.

No. I. A beggar—Sentimental reflections - - - 70
II. A pick-pocket—Strange adventure - - 79
III. Retrospect of life - - - - - 89
IV. Conversation with Truman on narrative writing 99
V. Reflections on the misapplication of talents—Exemplified in Brumley - - - - 125
VI. Berutha and Malivia, a tale - - - - 138
VII. Fashion, a dream - - - - - 147
VIII. Letter from Jack Gaylove on the subject of the preceding number - - - - - 161
IX. Reflections on life - - - - - 171
X. On friendship - - - - - - 195
XI. The destructive consequences of a romantic edution—Story of Olivia - - - - - 220
XII. Domestic happiness, an adventure - - 232
XIII. The pursuit of honour, a dream - - - 243
XIV. On avarice - - - - - - - 269
XV. Letter on the subject of a general system of education - - - - - - 292
XVI. A question answered - - - - - 307

ORIGINAL ESSAYS, TALES, EXTRACTS,

MISCELLANEOUS SELECTIONS, &c.

ANECDOTES - - - - - - 59, 226, 239
——— Historical 117, 131, 180, 203, 214, 219
Agriculture, reflections on - - 197, 212, 223, 235

Architecture, progress of - - - page 245, 258
Aurora, or the apparition - - - - - 308
Benevolence, striking instance of - - - - 154
*Biographical sketch of Charles III. king of Spain B. 57
———— anecdote of Baron Holberg - - - 81
Birth of Pity, an allegory - - - - - 9
*Correspondents, notes to 10, 22, 33, 59, 264 300, 316
Cornish curate, a tale - - - - 271, 281, 295
Confession, a noble - - - - - - 286
Charon, origin of the fable concerning - - - 192
*Dissipation, reflections on - - - Averno 130
Duelist and libertine reclaimed, a tale - - 200, 209
Double disappointment - - - - - 298
Excuse, a good one - - - - - - ibid.
Fable, an Italian - - - - - - - 284
Floral games - - - - - - - 261
Generosity, instance of - - - - - - 285
Historical facts, curious - - - - - 2
*Hope, reflections on - - - - J. E. 32
*Letter to the editor - - - Ephraim 21
*Life, extract of a letter on a virtuous - Philander 101
Literary characters, traits of vanity in - - - 155
*Love, penitents of - - - - - - 166
*Marriage, extract of a letter on - - Eugenius 92
*Mouse, attachment to her young - J. W. 189
*Nothing, the petition of - - - Nothing 268
Pompey's pillar, description of - - - - 115
Poverty, critical history of - - - - - 176
Providential deliverance - - - - - 190
Proverbs, aphorisms, &c. 78, 91, 129, 135, 143, 183, 231, 255 267, 297
Remarkable instances of delicacy of smell - - 250
Shot, a random - - - - - - - 310
Singularities of different nations - - - - 95
*Sneezing, anecdotes of - - - -  153
Student's midnight tale - - - - 237, 247
*Tale without a name Anacharsis 111, 127, 141 149 163, 173, 185
*Thoughts in a garden - - - Philander 279
Test, a peculiar - - - - - - - 286
Trifles - - - - - - - - - 10
War personified - - - - - - - 294

* Pieces designated by an asterisk are original communications.

Poetical Department.

ORIGINAL.

		page
HONEST Robert the Patriot - -	W—t.	11
Affection's Smile - - - -	Edwin	23
She who would gain, a song - - -	Edwin	ibid.
Lines to Anna, with a gold (key) breast pin	Edward	24
Hymn, on Sunday morning - - -	Alcander	34
Connubial Joys, a sonnet - - -	Alician	36
The Eye, an irregular ode - - -	Anacharsis	45
Stanzas written on hearing of the outrage committed on the Chesapeake - - - -	Anacharsis	60
Poor Anna; or, the Impressment, a tale -	Alician	72
Edwin and Ellen, a tale - - -	Glormon	82
Sonnet to an Infant - - - -	Alician	84
The Despondent's Adieu - - -	Fidelio	96
Lines on the anniversary of the birth day of General Geo: Washington - - -	Alician	ibid.
Hymn for Sunday evening - - -	Alcander	105
Invocation to Spring - - - -	Alician	108
Elegiac Sonnet - - - - -	Amynior	119
Lines addressed to Constantia - -	Anacharsis	ibid.
A Little Story - - - - -	Alician	144
Stanzas, on seeing a young lady after her recovery from a swoon - - - -	Edwin	156
Stanzas written on the tomb of a brother -	Glormon	168
Fancy—Reason—Faith - - - -	Alician	204
A Serenade - - - - -	Edwin	216
The Slave - - - - - -	A.	227
Farewell Lines - - - - -	Anacharsis	ibid.
Inscription for a Clock - - - -	Alician	228
Sonnet to Health - - - - -	Alician	240
Sonnet to Hope - - - - - -	A.	ibid.
Nothing - - - - - - -	E.	251
The Ghost, a terrific tale - - -	Anacharsis	262
Stanzas - - - - - -	Glormon	275
Stanzas to Mary - - - - -	Alician	276
The Woodsmen and Astronomer, a simple story	Alician	287
The Black Patch - - - - -	Anacharsis	299

Satirical Lines - - - - - Glornon 300
Ode to a Lady's Foot - - - The Stranger 311
Address to a Wood-Robin - - The Stranger 313
Stanzas to a Lady, with a Rose - Anacharsis 314
The contrariety of Love - - - - E. ibid.

 IN completing the first volume of 'THE EYE,' an opportunity offers, which we embrace, to express our gratitude to those who have, by their patronage, fostered our infant publication.....We are sensible, that to insure the continuance of their support, and extend the circulation of our paper, must be the result of unremitted exertion; we will therefore, always endeavour to discharge our duty with that attention which is peculiarly requisite in conducting a periodical miscellany, and increasing experience, we trust, will enable us to perform the task with satisfaction to our subscribers.

To Correspondents our sincere thanks are tendered; we are not insensible of the acknowledgments due to them; a continuance of their kind assistance will be truly gratifying; without this, we cannot reasonably expect much success in our efforts to please; we however hope, that during the future progress of the work, their communications will enable us to present the Patrons of 'THE EYE' a rich magazine of useful information and mental entertainment, highly pleasing to the friends of American literature.